Schedule

YOUR RIGHTS UNDER THE CONSUMER REPORTING ACT

Under provincial law, you have the right to dispute the accuracy or completeness of the information in your credit file directly with the consumer reporting agency. You do not need to hire a company to do this. If your file contains any inaccurate or incomplete information, the consumer reporting agency must correct it within a reasonable time and under some circumstances notify individuals who have been given a report based on the incorrect or incomplete information. See subsection 13 (2) of the Act.

You may also file a complaint with the Registrar of Consumer Reporting Agencies regarding the information in your credit file. You do not need to hire a company to do this. The Registrar can order that the information in your credit file be amended or deleted, and that persons who have received a consumer report be notified of the amendment or deletion. You also have appeal rights where you disagree with the Registrar's decision.

You do not have the right to have accurate, current information removed from files that a consumer reporting agency maintains. In most circumstances, the agency must remove accurate, negative information from your report only if it is over seven years old. In most circumstances, accurate and timely information, even if negative, may be reported for up to seven years.

In addition to any cancellation rights that you have under any other legislation, you may cancel this contract within five days of receiving the contract. You do not need a reason to cancel. To cancel, you must give notice of cancellation to the address shown on this contract by any means that allows you to prove the cancellation date.

You cannot be required to give, and the seller cannot accept, money or security for payment before a material improvement has been made to your credit file. If you have given money or security for payment before a material improvement has been made to your credit file, you are entitled to demand that it be returned, and the seller must comply within five days of receiving the demand.

You are also entitled to sue for the return of any money or security given before a material improvement has been made to your credit file. If a court finds in your favour, you will recover the full value of your payment or security, without any reduction for services or goods the seller may have provided. The seller will also be liable for court costs. As well, you may be awarded exemplary or punitive damages of up to $1,000.

3. This Regulation comes into force 60 days after it is filed.

DEBT RETIREMENT CHARGE — RATES AND EXEMPTIONS

Definitions

1. (1) In this Regulation,

“exempt self-generated electricity” means electricity,

(a) that is consumed by the person who generates it or by another person at the expense of the person who generates it, and

(b) that is,

(i) generated and consumed on a temporary, occasional or emergency basis,

(ii) generated by a generation unit that has a maximum load capacity of not more than 15 kilowatts, or

(iii) generated and consumed within a vehicle or vessel used to transport people or goods;

“Minister” means the Minister of Finance;

“reserve” means a reserve as defined in the Indian Act (Canada) or an Indian Settlement located on Crown land, the Indian inhabitants of which are treated by the Department of Indian Affairs and Northern Development (Canada) in the same manner as Indians residing on a reserve as defined in the Indian Act (Canada);

“self-generated electricity” means electricity, other than exempt self-generated electricity, that is consumed by the person who generates it or by another person at the expense of the person who generates it.

(2) The definitions in subsection 85 (1) of the Act apply for the purposes of this Regulation.

Debt retirement charge

2. (1) The debt retirement charge payable by a user for a period commencing on or after the day subsection 26 (1) of the Act comes into force is the amount calculated by multiplying the prescribed rate, as determined under subsection (2) for the location at which the electricity is consumed, by the number of kilowatt hours of electricity consumed at that location during the period, as determined,

(a) by a collector or the collector's agent;

(b) by the user, if the user is a self-generating user; or

(c) by the user, if the user is a collector who does not pay the debt retirement charge for the period to another collector.

(2) The prescribed rate for the purposes of subsection 85 (4) of the Act is,

(a) the rate set out in Table 1 opposite the name of the local utility whose service area on October 30, 1998 included the location at which the electricity is consumed;

(b) the rate set out in Table 2 opposite the name of the local utility and the description of the area as of October 30, 1998, if the electricity is consumed at a location in that area; or

(c) 0.7 cents if the electricity is consumed at a location that is not within an area referred to in clause (a) or (b).

(3) The amount of a debt retirement charge calculated under this section must be rounded to the nearest whole cent and if the amount ends in a half cent, the amount must be rounded up to the next whole cent.

Exemptions

3. (1) The following users are exempt from the requirement to pay debt retirement charges in respect of electricity consumed in the following manner:

1. An Indian or band, as defined in the Indian Act (Canada), in respect of electricity consumed by the Indian or the band on a reserve.

2. A foreign state, international organization or individual that is exempt from tax under subsection 7 (5) of the Retail Sales Tax Act, in respect of electricity consumed by the foreign state, international organization or individual.

3. A transmitter or distributor, in respect of electricity lost or unaccounted for in transmitting or distributing electricity.

4. A self-generating user and a person who consumes electricity at the expense of the self-generating user, in respect of exempt self-generated electricity generated by the self-generating user.

5. A person, in respect of electricity the person consumes that is generated by a self-generating user and supplied to the person at the expense of the self-generating user.

(2) Despite subsection (1), an entity mentioned in paragraph 1 or 2 of that subsection is required to pay to a collector the amount of the debt retirement charge that would otherwise be payable under subsection 85 (4) of the Act for a period, unless the entity claiming the exemption submits to the collector to whom the entity is required to pay the debt retirement charge,

(a) a valid certificate of Indian status issued by the Government of Canada, that identifies him or her as an Indian;

(b) a valid identity card issued by the Government of Canada that identifies him or her as an individual described in subsection 7 (5) of the Retail Sales Tax Act, in the case of an individual referred to in paragraph 2 of subsection (1); or

(c) an exemption certificate, in any other case.

Exemption, station service

4. A generator who is a self-generating user but generates electricity primarily for sale to another user directly or through the IMO-administered markets is exempt from the requirement to pay a debt retirement charge in respect of the number of kilowatt hours of electricity,

(a) that is not conveyed through the IMO-controlled grid; and

(b) that is consumed directly in the generation of electricity at the generation facility at which it is generated.

Annual exemption, self-generating users

5. (1) A self-generating user is exempt from the requirement to pay a debt retirement charge for a calendar year in respect of the number of kilowatt hours of electricity that is the lesser of,

- (a) the number of kilowatt hours of electricity in its exemption account at the end of the year; and
- (b) the number of kilowatt hours of self-generated electricity consumed in the year by the self-generating user or by another person at the expense of the self-generating user, other than self-generated electricity consumed in a location for which the prescribed rate of the debt retirement charge is zero.

(2) Despite subsection (1), a self-generating user is not entitled to an exemption under this section for a year unless,

- (a) the self-generating user,
 - (i) owned and operated generating units or facilities on October 30, 1998 and consumed self-generated electricity generated by those generating units or facilities at any time after December 31, 1988 and before October 31, 1998, or
 - (ii) acquired before the end of the year part or all of an exemption account from a self-generating user who was entitled to it; and
- (b) the self-generating user is not entitled to claim an exemption for the year under section 4.

(3) Except as provided in subsection (4), the number of kilowatt hours of electricity in a self-generating user's exemption account at the end of a year is the number of kilowatt hours, if any, determined using the formula,

$$A + B - C$$

in which,

"A" is the average number of kilowatt hours per year of self-generated electricity consumed by the self-generating user,

- (a) that was generated by generating units or facilities that were owned or operated by the self-generating user on October 30, 1998, and
- (b) that was consumed during,

- (i) any five calendar years in the period commencing on January 1, 1989 and ending on December 31, 1998, if the self-generating user consumed self-generated electricity during five or more calendar years in that period, or
- (ii) during the period commencing on January 1, 1989 and ending on December 31, 1998, if the self-generating user consumed self-generated electricity during fewer than five calendar years in that period,

"B" is the number of kilowatt hours of electricity from the exemption account of another self-generating user that has been transferred in accordance with this Regulation to the self-generating user during the year or during a prior year, and

"C" is the number of kilowatt hours of electricity that has been transferred from the self-generating user's exemption account in accordance with this Regulation to another self-generating user during the year or during a prior year.

(4) For the year in which subsection 26 (1) of the Act comes into force, the number of kilowatt hours determined as "A" in subsection (3) must be reduced to the amount determined by multiplying the number of days in the year on which subsection 26 (1) of the Act is in force by the quotient determined by dividing the number of kilowatt hours that would otherwise be determined under subsection (3) as "A" by 365.

Determining the amount of electricity

6. (1) For the purposes of sections 2 and 3, the amount of electricity consumed in a period by a user that is not self-generated electricity is determined in accordance with the Board's Retail Settlement Code without any adjustment for total losses, as defined in that Code.

(2) Despite subsection (1), the amount of electricity consumed in a period by a user in respect of whom the IMO is the collector is the amount of electricity withdrawn during the period by the user from the IMO-controlled grid, as determined under the market rules.

(3) Upon the written request of the user or the Minister, the person making a determination in a manner described in subsection (1) or (2) shall provide to the user or the Minister, as the case may be, a written explanation of the basis on which the determination was made and details of the calculations used in the determination.

(4) For the purposes of sections 2 and 5, the amount of self-generated electricity consumed by a self-generating user in a period is calculated using the formula,

in which,

"D" is the total amount of electricity the self-generating user generated in the period,

"E" is the total amount of electricity the self-generating user generated in the period and sold to another entity, and

"F" is the total amount of exempt self-generated electricity generated in the period and consumed by the self-generating user or by another person at the expense of the self-generating user.

(5) If a self-generating user cannot prove to the satisfaction of the Minister that it sold to another entity electricity that it generated, the self-generating user shall be considered to have consumed the electricity.

Transfer of exemption account of self-generating user

7. (1) A self-generating user may transfer all or part of its exemption account to a person to whom the self-generating user transfers ownership of generating units or facilities if,

- (a) the generating units or facilities were owned and operated on October 30, 1998 by a self-generating user who consumed self-generated electricity generated by those generating units or facilities at any time after December 31, 1988 and before October 31, 1998; and
- (b) the generating units or facilities were not owned at any time after October 30, 1998 and before the day of the transfer by any owner who was not a self-generating user.

(2) The maximum amount of the exemption account that may be transferred under subsection (1) is the amount that is reasonably related to the generating units or facilities transferred.

(3) Despite subsection (1), a transfer of part or all of an exemption account does not take effect unless the following conditions are satisfied:

1. Both the transferor and the transferee are registered under subsection 85.4 (1) of the Act.
2. The transferor and the transferee are not in default in respect of any obligation either of them may have to pay, collect or remit debt retirement charges.
3. The transferor and the transferee have applied for and received the Minister's written consent in respect of the calculation of the amount of the exemption to be transferred and any allocafor the year in which the transfer occurs.

(4) The effective date of a transfer of part or all of an exemption account is the date specified by the Minister in the consent referred to in paragraph 3 of subsection (3).

- (e) written notice has not been given by the Minister requiring the retention of the records.

PART VII REFUNDS

Refunds by collector

17. (1) A collector may make a refund to an entity if the following conditions are satisfied:

1. If the entity was not required to pay a debt retirement charge in respect of the consumption of electricity by reason of an exemption in a regulation made under clause 86 (1) (f) of the Act, the collector may pay a refund to the entity upon receipt of the documentation that the entity is required by that regulation to provide in order to prove that the entity is exempt from the requirement to pay a debt retirement charge.
2. If an entity provides an exemption certificate to the collector that is effective for a period in respect of which the entity paid a debt retirement charge to the collector, the collector may refund the debt retirement charge.
3. If a refund is payable to an entity for any reason other than an exemption described in paragraph 1 or 2, the collector may allow the refund if the collector is satisfied that the entity made an overpayment of a debt retirement charge that was caused by a clerical error, by an arithmetic error in calculating the amount of the required payment, by an inaccurate measurement or estimate of electricity consumed or by the use of an incorrect rate of debt retirement charge.

(2) No entity shall make more than one application to a collector for a refund of the same overpayment of a debt retirement charge.

Refund in respect of uncollectible accounts

18. (1) The Financial Corporation may refund a debt retirement charge to a collector if,

- (a) the collector has remitted the debt retirement charge to the Financial Corporation;
- (b) the collector shows to the satisfaction of the Minister that the debt retirement charge was payable by a user in respect of electricity consumed by the user and the user has defaulted in the payment to the collector of all or part of the amount payable to the collector in respect of the electricity;
- (c) the collector has written off as a bad debt in its books of account the unpaid amount owing to the collector in respect of the electricity; and
- (d) at the time of the write-off of the unpaid amount as a bad debt, the write-off was in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, as recommended by the Accounting Standards Board of the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants and as set out in the CICA Handbook.

(2) Despite subsection (1), no refund shall be made to a collector under this section in respect of an unpaid amount if,

- (a) the collector fails to claim the refund within four years from the end of the collector's fiscal year in which it wrote off the unpaid amount as a bad debt;
- (b) the collector and the user were not dealing at arm's length at the time the user consumed the electricity or at the time the collector wrote off the unpaid amount as a bad debt;
- (c) the collector is entitled to offset the unpaid amount against an amount payable by the collector to the user;
- (d) the collector has assigned, without recourse and for consideration, other than for security purposes, part or all of the unpaid amount, whether or not the assignee and the collector are related persons for the purposes of the Income Tax Act (Canada); or
- (e) the payment for the electricity was made through the use of a credit card that was not issued by the collector or a corporation that is associated with the collector within the meaning of section 256 of the Income Tax Act (Canada).

(3) In this section, a collector shall not be considered to deal with a user at arm's length if the collector and user would not be considered to deal with each other at arm's length for the purposes of the Income Tax Act (Canada).

(4) The amount of a debt retirement charge that may be refunded to a collector under this section in respect of an unpaid amount shall be calculated using the formula,

$$A \times B/C$$

in which,

"A" is the amount of the debt retirement charge remitted by the collector with respect to the electricity consumed by the user,

"B" is the amount by which the unpaid amount in respect of the electricity exceeds the sum of all interest, finance, carrying, collection or similar charges imposed by the collector with respect to the electricity consumed by the user and all amounts received by the collector on the realization of any security given to secure the unpaid amount, and

"C" is the total amount that was payable by the user in respect of the electricity, including the amount of the debt retirement charge, but excluding the amount of goods and services tax imposed by the Government of Canada.

(5) The following rules apply for the purposes of claiming a refund under this section:

- 1. The collector may claim only one refund under this section of the debt retirement charge relating to an amount of electricity consumed by a user.
- 2. The collector shall claim the refund by deducting the amount of the refund from the amount of debt retirement charges the collector is required to remit to the Financial Corporation.
- 3. The collector shall make only one deduction described in paragraph 2 during any 12-month period for all claims for refund under this section, unless the collector has obtained the prior written consent of the Minister to make more than one deduction.
- 4. The collector shall retain in its records sufficient information and documentation to permit confirmation to the satisfaction of the Minister of the correct amount of the refund.
- 5. If payment for the electricity was made through the use of a credit card issued by the collector or by a corporation referred to in clause (2) (e), but the electricity was not supplied by the collector or the corporation,

- i. no part of the amount paid through the credit card shall be included in the unpaid amount specified as "B" under subsection (4), and
- ii. any payments made on the credit card account shall be applied to the earliest indebtedness before determining the unpaid amount specified as "B" under subsection (4).

(6) If a collector subsequently recovers from any entity or through any means, other than a refund under this section, any of the unpaid amount in respect of which the refund was claimed, the collector shall repay to the Financial Corporation, by way of adjustment to the amount of debt retirement charges the collector is required to remit, the same percentage of any refund made under this section in respect of the unpaid amount that the amount recovered is of the amount designated as "B" in the formula in subsection (4) in respect of the unpaid amount.

PART VIII INTEREST AND FEE

Prescribed interest

19. (1) For the purposes of Part V.1 of the Act, the prescribed rates of interest shall be determined in accordance with the following rules:

- 1. A base rate of interest shall be determined for January 1, 2002 and for each adjustment date after January 1, 2002 and shall be equal to the average prime rate on,
 - i. October 15 of the previous year, if the adjustment date is January 1,
 - ii. January 15 of the same year, if the adjustment date is April 1,
 - iii. April 15 of the same year, if the adjustment date is July 1, and
 - iv. July 15 of the same year, if the adjustment date is October 1.
- 2. The base rate of interest in effect on a particular date shall be,
 - i. the base rate for the particular date, if the particular date is an adjustment date, and
 - ii. the base rate for the last adjustment date before the particular date, otherwise.
- 3. The prescribed rate of interest payable by an entity under the Act in respect of a particular day shall be an annual interest rate that is three percentage points higher than the base rate of interest in effect on that day.
- 4. The prescribed rate of interest to be paid or allowed to an entity under the Act in respect of a particular day shall be an annual interest rate that is two percentage points lower than the base rate of interest in effect for that day.
- 5. For an overpayment that results from a decision of the Minister or a court on an objection to, or an appeal from, an assessment or a statement of disallowance, the prescribed rate of interest to be paid or allowed in respect of a particular day is the base rate of interest in effect for that day.

(2) In this section,

"adjustment date" means January 1, April 1, July 1 or October 1;

"average prime rate", on a particular date, means the mean, rounded to the nearest whole percentage point, of the annual rates of interest announced by each of the Royal Bank of Canada, The Bank of

of Montreal and The Toronto-Dominion Bank to be its prime or reference rate of interest in effect on that date for determining interest rates on Canadian dollar commercial loans by that bank in Canada.

Schedule 1

INDICATORS OF ADVERSE WATER QUALITY

Each of the following is an indicator of adverse water quality:

1. Water that has not been disinfected is directed to users, if disinfection is used or required. (Corrective action: Stop water use or bring water to a rapid, rolling boil for at least one minute. Restore disinfection immediately. The local Medical Officer of Health may give further instructions and may authorize resumption of normal use of the water.)
2. Escherichia coli (E. coli) or fecal coliform is detected in any required sample of water that has been treated or is otherwise ready for human consumption. (Corrective action: Stop water use or bring water to a rapid, rolling boil for at least one minute. Increase the chlorine dose and flush the water distribution system and plumbing to ensure a free chlorine residual of at least 0.2 mg/L at all points in the affected part(s) of the distribution system and plumbing. Resample and analyze. Corrective action should begin immediately. The local Medical Officer of Health may give further instructions and may authorize resumption of normal use of the water.)
3. Total coliforms are detected (but Escherichia coli or other fecal coliforms are not detected) in any required sample of water that has been treated or is otherwise ready for human consumption. (Corrective action: Normal use of the water may continue. Resample at the same site and analyze. If confirmed to be positive, stop water use or bring water to a rapid, rolling boil for at least one minute, increase the chlorine dose and flush the water distribution system and plumbing to ensure a free chlorine residual of at least 0.2 mg/L at all points in the affected part(s) of the distribution system and plumbing, and call the Medical Officer of Health again and consult. Corrective action should begin immediately. The local Medical Officer of Health may give further instructions and may authorize resumption of normal use of the water.)
4. More than 500 colonies per millilitre are detected on a heterotrophic plate count analysis (but Escherichia coli or other fecal coliforms are not detected) in any required sample of water that has been treated or is otherwise ready for human consumption. (Corrective action: Normal use of the water may continue. Resample at the same site and analyze. If confirmed to be positive, stop water use or bring water to a rapid, rolling boil for at least one minute and call the local Medical Officer of Health again and consult. The local Medical Officer of Health may give further instructions and may authorize resumption of normal use of the water.)
5. Sodium concentration exceeds 20 mg/L. The aesthetic objective for sodium in drinking water is 200 mg/L, but the local Medical Officer of Health must be notified when the sodium concentration exceeds 20 mg/L so that this information may be communicated to local physicians for their use with patients on sodium restricted diets. (Corrective action: Normal use of the water may continue. Resample and analyze. On confirmation, call the local Medical Officer of Health again.)
6. A pesticide not listed in Schedule 2 is detected. Drinking water should be free of pesticides and every effort should be made to prevent pesticides from entering raw water sources. Pesticides may be reported by their most common trade name, a listing of which, called the Compendium of Scheduled Pesticides, is accessible on the Internet through the web site of the Ontario Pesticides Advisory Committee at www.opac.gov.on.ca or the web site of the Ministry of the Environment at www.ene.gov.on.ca. (Corrective action: Normal use of the water may continue. Resample, take a corresponding raw water sample and analyze. On confirmation, call the local Medical Officer of Health again and consult.)

7. If chlorination is used, the concentration of free chlorine residual is less than 0.05 mg/L in any required sample. (Corrective action: Stop water use. Resample and test again. If the free chlorine residual is still less than 0.05 mg/L, increase the chlorine dose and flush the water distribution system and plumbing to ensure the free chlorine residual is at least 0.2 mg/L at all points in the distribution system and plumbing. Resample and test again. If the free chlorine residual is less than 0.05 mg/L, stop water use until otherwise directed by the local Medical Officer of Health. Corrective action should begin immediately.)
8. If filtration is used, the turbidity is more than 1.0 Nephelometric Turbidity Units (NTU) in any required sample. (Corrective action: Normal use of the water may continue. Resample and test again. If the turbidity is still more than 1.0 Nephelometric Turbidity Units (NTU), review the operation of all treatment processes that are installed upstream of filtration to determine the possible impact on filtration and other downstream processes and,
 - (a) backwash the filter in accordance with the manufacturer's recommendations and flush the water distribution system and plumbing; or
 - (b) replace the filter cartridge or filter element and flush the water distribution system and plumbing.)
